

2 3/8 EUE 8 RD Threaded Lubricator

Definitive Optimizations quality 2 3/8 EUE 8 Rd Threaded Lubricator is the Industry workhorse. The machined body provides superior strength over the common welded design body that is used.

Key Features and Benefits

- The Machined body design provides maximum lubricator design strength, safety, reliability and a unsurpassed ability to dissipate the energy created from the occasional and accidental high velocity plunger speed arrivals.
- The "zero weld" design on this lubricator means our full machined threaded ports are straight and true, making installation of the lubricator simpler and quicker, minimizing unnecessary time and costs.
- At Definitive Optimization there are no short cuts when it comes to a high quality design. The handy cap design uses the same high quality spring, anvil and catcher parts supplied in our extreme service lubricator designs.
- Superior Spring Quality supplied in 17-7 stainless material.
- Body is made of standard grade AISA 4140 material.

- Minimum cap/body material tensile strength is 110,000.
- 5000 PSI working pressure
- -20 ~ +180 F Temp

Quality Control

All our designs are rigorously reviewed through third party Engineering, FEA analyses and validation tested. Each Lubricator goes through an in depth Quality control review and a complete function test.
